Dear Dani,

When a function such as our 2007 "Money Power Day" event is a success, the credit starts with the event planner's leadership and management support that gently guides the planning committee forward. Your detailed work, creativity, excellent planning and realistic scheduling resulted in an informative and smooth running event. Thanks to you and your team, the planning committee now has an outstanding model to follow next year.

I want to express my sincere appreciation for your insight and strategic planning, which made the conference such a success. Your efforts helped us attract a great deal of attention and praise from our event participant's, sponsors, and exhibitors. I feel especially fortunate that we found someone who understood and was equally committed to the mission and goals of our organization and the event itself.

You did a fantastic job of keeping the conference moving with a positive attitude. The participants came away from each workshop, benefit screening, tax-preparation, and exhibitor with renewed enthusiasm for their own financial well-being. The kind of results we hoped for.

We want to commend you on a very successful event and we welcome the opportunity to work with Special Gathering for our 2008 "Money Power Day" event.

All the Best,

Joanna Smith-Ramani
Executive Director
