To Whom It May Concern:

Danielle Johnson of Special Gathering worked with our organization to plan and execute 3 week-long training seminars. Her work and attention to detail were all encompassing. From the pre-event planning sessions to her work on-site at the seminars to the debrief afterwards, her guidance and insight were invaluable and essential to the overall success of each seminar.

In addition the logistical and operational support she provided, Danielle identified venues and planned social dinners and gatherings. These gatherings allowed our participants to unwind after a long day of work and enjoy themselves and each other's company. The fun, social aspect enhanced each participant's overall seminar experience.

Whether it is planning a training seminar or planning a fun night out, Danielle Johnson and Special Gathering has it covered. I would recommend to anyone looking to plan an event be it large or small, to consult with Danielle and Special Gathering.

Respectfully,
